Cletech FX Outdoor Totem has a bi-directional display design. It is produced with fan ventilation according to outdoor environment conditions. It prevents the heating of your devices in the enclosure by circulating fresh air continuously in the enclosure. FX Totem that attracts attention with its impressive structure, offers you IP56 protection. Fast USB charging sockets are located on the two sides of the enclosure. In addition, there is an area on the product offered specifically for the project that can be used as a Hotspot internet access point. New generation monitors with original high brightness can be used on FX Totem which provides fast and easy technical service.
